ABOUT US

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics is the world's largest organization of food and nutrition professionals.

The Academy was founded in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1917, by a visionary group of women dedicated to helping the government conserve food and improve the public's health and nutrition during World War I.

Today, the Academy has members in over 80 countries throughout the globe—registered dietitian nutritionists (RDN); nutrition and dietetic technicians, registered (NDTR); and other professionals holding undergraduate and advanced degrees in nutrition and dietetics; and students—and is committed to improving the public's health and advancing the profession of nutrition and dietetics through research, education and advocacy.

Members of the Academy play a key role in shaping the public's food choices, thereby improving its nutritional status, and in treating persons with illnesses or injuries. Members offer preventive and medical nutrition therapy services in a variety of settings.

Nutrition and dietetics practitioners work in health care systems, home health care, foodservice, business, research and educational organizations, as well as in private practice. As essential members of medical teams in hospitals, post-acute and long-term care facilities, and health maintenance organizations, they provide medical nutrition therapy—using specific nutrition-related services to treat chronic conditions, illnesses or injuries. Community-based practitioners provide health promotion, disease prevention and wellness services.

As a leader in food and nutrition, the Academy provides expert testimony at hearings, lobbies Congress and other governmental bodies, comments on proposed federal and state regulations, and develops position statements on critical issues.

Learn more about the benefits of Academy membership and how the Academy supports both you and the nutrition and dietetics profession.
